Arrghhh!....

Return to 'Snow U.'

Much of last Thursday's 18-inch snowfall was still in evidence this week as OU students trooped back to the campus Monday to find gigantic mounds of snow encircling parking lots, walks and driveways. Officially the Omaha Weather Bureau logged the fall at just under the 1960 storm that left similar sights and problems. In a lighter moment, Gateway photographer Jim Mone caught this co-ed rounding a snow bank in the east Applied Arts Building lot, giving the reader the impression the flake accumulation was a lot more than reported. But, with all of the drawbacks the blizzard presented, OU students and faculty alike benefited in one way — classes were dismissed Thursday afternoon and all day Friday.

Snow Costs Physical Plant Sixty Hours

Ah winter! When nature blankets the earth in a pure white garb. The wonderful beauty... Auuuuuhh! Ouch! Ow! Oh! THUD! (The preceding sound track was made by yours truly being severely beaten with ice-encrusted snow shovels by Clarence Lefler and his 50-odd physical plantmen.)

It seems that the men of the physical plant department worked from Thursday morning until Saturday night — straight through — combatting the "blanket of white."

Dugdale Construction Co. joined in the battle from 4:30 p.m. Thursday until 4 p.m. Saturday.

The plantmen worked in shifts, some going home for a few hours, while others continued working. Some members of the crew were on the job at all times.

The worst of it was over by Saturday night, but some work continued through Sunday.

The cost of this battle with nature has not yet been determined. A hefty bill is expected from Dugdale Construction and quite a bit of overtime will be paid to plantmen.

Assistant Plant Manager Robert Krenzer, in charge during the absence of physical Plant Superintendent Clarence Lefler who is attending the American Association of School Administrators Convention in Atlantic City, N. J., had this request:

"If you leave your car on campus, leave your keys with us so that we can move it if necessary. There were many cars left on the lots Thursday. We had to move them in order to clear the lots. That was one of our biggest problems."

Three cheers for the Physical Plant Department for a job well done.

Students Again Disobeying Church's No-Parking Signs

Parking problems again erupted this week with a warning from a spokesman of the First Christian Church, 6630 Dodge Street.

The problem — students parking in the driveways and east lot of the church — has led church officials to take the position that all University cars parked in the east lot and driveways will be towed away by the Omaha Police Department.

The church spokesman said the church did not want to resort to this measure but said it would "be forced to if students do not comply with the No Parking Signs posted."

"Parking is permitted in the west lot of the church but nowhere else," church officials declared.

The problem of students failing to heed No Parking Signs in the church lots cropped up last semester on two occasions. Both times church officials have warned students that their cars would be towed away if they did not comply with the rules.

To date no cars have been removed; however, in a similar incident at St. Margaret Mary's Catholic Church, more than 50 cars were removed at a total cost of more than 600 dollars to the students involved. The incident at St. Margaret Mary's Church happened some three months ago.

The final warning from the First Christian Church has been made and officials there indicated a "last warning" attitude.

Junior Prom Is March 26

The 1965 Junior Prom Dance will be held March 16 at the Town House Ballroom from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Highlighting the dance will be the announcement of the Junior Prom Queen.

The queen will be chosen by an all school election to be held March 24 in the Ben Gallagher game room. Anyone carrying six hours or more is eligible to vote.

During intermission Judy Jensen, last year's queen, will make a presentation to the new queen.

The Junior Prom is an annual all school dance given by the Junior Class Officers. They are Joe Benson, president; Loren Drum, vice-president; and Kathy Daley, secretary.

Well Educated Person Needs Core To Build, Traywick Tells Group

By Leo Meidlinger

Omaha University president, Dr. Leland Traywick, speaking to guests at the Third Annual All-Industry Luncheon Monday, may have given some indication of what he considers important in a university curriculum in this age of specialization.

At the affair, sponsored by the Omaha chapter of Chartered Property Casualty Underwriters and the OU department of insurance, Dr. Traywick said "to be well educated" a person needs a structure of fundamentals, a core on which to build.

"These would consist of basic skills—meaning English, speech, mathematics, and hopefully a foreign language," he noted.

He said there also has to be an awareness of the problems and methods in the physical sciences, especially in this day and age. "There must not be," however, he added, "neglect of the social sciences or humanities. The human element in a world of human beings becomes paramount, for all our science and technology, research, growth and development must serve mankind," he emphatically stated.

"These four then,—skills natural science, social science, and humanities—become a foundation on which specialities can be built, be they in business administration, engineering, teacher education, or whatever," he added.

However, Dr. Traywick pointed out, one would not need to take all of the core courses first and then only late in his academic career change to a specialty. He said it would, to the contrary, be much better to take many of the foundation courses along with the specialty and indeed even take some of them last for they would be more meaningful as the applicability of the field of specialty and indeed even take some come more realistic closer to graduation.

"One's learning never really ceases," Dr. Traywick noted, "and a chance to broaden and deepen one's education and skills is not only just money in the bank but it is most importantly a satisfactory life—a job well done, something of which you can be proud—and this I submit is the greatest of all satisfactions."

The new OU head also noted that education of young people is "a significant aspect of our society but perhaps without 'much broad realization of it.'"

Dr. Traywick said there are more young people in our society today than we had either at the beginning of this century or that we will have at the end of it.

"An interesting sideline to this," he pointed out, "is that those eligible to vote have followed the same identical pattern."

The OU president then added, "Thus society and the electorate have become younger and this is probably one of, if not the most, neglected political facts of our time." As an example of this, Dr. Traywick pointed out that Social Security taxes which fall on the young, both rich and poor, transfer to the old, both rich and poor, something now in excess of 300 billion dollars a year.

He put the blame for the situation on the "expanding, ever growing state of federal or central government operations." Dr. Traywick said the principle involved is a very clear and straight forward one of economic efficiency.

"But simply because it is easier for the federal government to do it, or simply because inadvertently there is a fund of money lying around is no principle for an efficient and economic operation."

If something can be done more cheaply by having the federal government do it, then it should be done. If not, then it should be done by other groups or by the individual, he added.

"Centralization is totalitarianism and totalitarianism in any form will kill private initiative and private enterprise," he emphasized.

"Let us therefore be prepared and be constructive as we move into this, our future," the former economics professor concluded.

Short On Cash? Go To Alum Office

Warren Wittekind, executive secretary of the Alumni Association, announced that emergency loans are again available through his office.

Any student may borrow up to five dollars by going to the Alumni office on the second floor of the Milo Bail Student Center and signing a pledge promising to repay the loan within thirty days. A fine of five cents a day is charged for every day over thirty days.

The loan fund will be available until the second week in May.

Two Months In India Ahead For Lucky Omaha U Student

For the third successive year, an Omaha University student will take part in the "Experiment in International Living."

The student selected will be one of ten from the United States to go abroad this summer. The OU student will spend two months in India.

Cost for the trip will be the fare for the trip to Putney, Vt., the United States headquarters for the experiment. The experimenter would also have to take some money for souvenirs and various other personal expenses he would incur while traveling.

Any sophomore or junior may apply to make the trip by contacting Warren Wittekind in the Alumni Office in the Milo Bail Student Center. All applications must be in by March 15. The final selection of the student to go should be made by the first of April. The student is scheduled to leave by July 1.

The student ambassador will live with a family in India. He will see the country from the inside out, through the windows of his new home. The month's homestay is divided or followed by an informal trip of several weeks on which Experimenters are usually accompanied by members or friends of their host families.

Daughter Born To Joe Davises

The Gateway's correspondent in Ankara, Turkey, sends word this week of a former member of the University of Omaha's faculty.

The dispatch tells of the birth of a daughter, Tanya Denise, to Capt. and Mrs. Joseph M. Davis.

Captain Davis served as Commandant of Cadet in the Air Force ROTC department at OU. He left the University in 1963 and was assigned to the American Embassy in Ankara.

The entire experience is one of living not merely among the people, but with the people.

The responsibility of an Ambassador is as great as the privilege. The student must look at the country with a fresh approach. While he is there, he must gather information on economics and government, also the pattern of education and social customs.

When the student ambassador returns, he must give talks on his trip to various organizations. By giving these speeches, the student helps finance the ambassador to be sent from OU next year.

Full Time Worker Learns, Teaches

OU student Larry Evans is greatly interested in electronics. In fact, "I just about live for electronics," he said.

Larry became interested in electronics while in grade school. Later he spent four years in the Air Force, where he participated in electronics training.

In 1963 he was discharged. Larry then began working full-time at Clarkson Hospital. He served as a medical electronics technician. That means he repairs, modifies and calibrates all electronic gear there.

He entered OU's engineering department in the spring of 1964. He then began work on a degree in engineering. He plans to complete the degree at Nebraska University. Larry will transfer there in 1966.

Meanwhile he is still working 40 hours a week at Clarkson. He also finds time to work in OU's electronics lab. In addition, the 24-year-old Evans is teaching Basic Electronics Measurements 112A.

The latter task is in connection with the Technical Institute. Larry believes that program will be a great help in providing electronics technicians to supply the growing demand for trained specialists.

Adm. Council Meeting Hosts Dr. Traywick

President Leland Traywick held his first administrative council meeting Tuesday. He described it as a "good sounding board" for problems and suggestions.

The council consists of all the academic and administrative deans plus elected representatives from the faculty.

The next meeting will be March 18th with two others scheduled during the second semester.

Traywick, Students Meet Today

The first in a series of meetings between Dr. Leland Traywick and representative student organizations will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock when the new Omaha University president meets with members of the Student Council, in room 309 of the Student Center.

Dr. Traywick said he plans meetings "in the near future" with the Interfraternity Council and the Panhellenic Council to discuss the various organization's efforts and problems.

Six Foreign Films Start February 22

A series of six foreign films will be presented by the Student Center Program Committee beginning Monday.

The series will include films produced in Italy, Poland, the Soviet Union, Sweden and France.

Student Center Director William Gerbracht said the series will begin with a Japanese film entitled "Gate of Hell" on February 22 in the Gene Eppley Library Conference Center Auditorium.

Admission is one activity card per student.

Leads Announced In Goldsmith Play

Leading roles in the play "She Stoops To Conquer" by Oliver Goldsmith were announced this week by Dr. Edwin Clark, the play director.

The part of Kate Hardcastle will be played by Nancy Schneiderwind; Constance Neville will be played by Judy McFarland. Gary Johnson is cast as Squire Hardcastle, while Lou Gorr will portray Sir Charles Marlowe.

Pat Bunz will take the part of Mrs. Hardcastle, while Greg Loso will play Young Marlowe and Larry French will portray Tony Lumpkin.

The parts for lesser characters have not been determined yet. The play, described "as one of the funniest in the English language," is scheduled to be presented on March 11, 12 and 13th.

Suspensions Hit 140 At Mid-Year

Nearly 140 students have been suspended from the University of Omaha this week as a result of unsatisfactory grades.

Dean of Student Personnel Donald J. Pflasterer made the announcement Tuesday after all of the students involved had been notified by mail.

He added all those suspended were on academic probation.

KWOU Tryouts Scheduled For February 22 In Studio

Tryouts for KWOU radio station will be Monday, February 22 at 3:30 in G13 of the Applied Arts building.

Men and women are welcome to tryout and no previous experience is necessary. The students will be chosen on the quality of their speaking voices. The new disc jockies will be notified by phone on Tuesday said Priscilla Wilkins.

The new KWOU schedule will go into effect on March 1st after the training period. If there are any questions, call 291-2504.

Priscilla Wilkins, program manager, would like to develop KWOU into a station with more news and announcements. There will be no charge to the organizations on campus for these public service announcements. Miss Wilkins, 21, is a junior majoring in Radio-TV and English.

$90,000 ETV Loan Approved

An allocation not to exceed 90,000 dollars was approved by the Omaha University Board of Regents Thursday to purchase adequate equipment for the implementation of ETV channel 16. The ETV channel will be stationed in the Radio-TV studios of OU located in the Applied Arts Building.

The university will be repayed for the equipment by the Metropolitan Omaha Educational Broadcasting Association through rental fees.

The board, in another "money move" voted to accept "with thanks" the gift of $1,500 dollars from the Lions Club of Omaha. The gift was made to president Leland Traywick last Friday and will be put to use as an "emergency student loan fund."

Dr. Traywick, making his first official appearance before the board, explained the progress on the tentative plans for an addition to the Applied Arts Building. He said he had talked with John Latenser, the university architect, about the proposed addition to determine what facilities the university needed in the new wing. There will be further consultation with the architect and the board before any plans are defined, the OU prexy said.

The board, in its monthly meeting, also reappointed 74 faculty members for 1965-66 academic year. Names will be published next week.

Dr. W. L. Most, professor and head of the foreign language department, was also reappointed and given a three-year contract.

Three other faculty members were re-hired and given promotion in rank from assistant instructor to instructor: Gordon Hansen, psychology; Nancy Samuelson, English; and Sigfrid Schakat, reading improvement.

History instructor Donald W. Drapeau was granted a year's leave of absence to work on his doctorate at the University of Pennsylvania.

The Regents accepted the resignation of Virgil J. Kroeger, associate professor of sociology, effective August 31. He will go to the University of Minnesota's Duluth branch in the same capacity.

Newmans Honor Club's Namesake

Cardinal Newman Week, Feb. 21-28, will be observed by Newman Club members at their meeting, Sunday, Feb. 21. Miss Virginia Frank, English instructor at OU, will speak on Cardinal John Henry Newman's writings.

The meeting will be held in the Holy Family Hall of St. Margaret Mary's Church at 7:00 p.m.

The observance will be part of a nation-wide commemoration on college campuses. Newman Clubs were started in this country in 1893 by a group of medical students at the University of Pennsylvania. Since then they have expanded to include almost every secular campus throughout the country.

The purpose of the organization is to provide students with a means of carrying on their religious beliefs and practices while in college.

Traywick Meets Panhellenic Council

The Panhellenic Council held a reception for Dr. Leland Traywick and his wife, Thursday afternoon in the Student Center Ballroom.

Music Fraternity Presents Musical

Love and romance is the theme of three one-act operettas to be presented tonight by Delta Omicron, professional music fraternity for women.

The musical potpourri will begin at 8 p.m. in the Gene Eppley Library Conference Center. There is no admission charge and everyone is invited to attend.

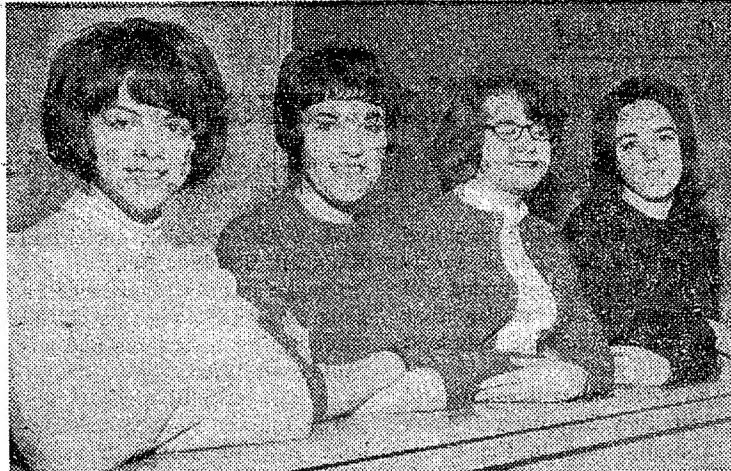

Jana Doxon and Gregg Loso will appear in the modern operetta, "The Telephone." "The Excursion," which has a "gay '90s" setting, features Billie Paulson, Rosalie Wiggins, Jerry Bryan, Kent Hanon and Wayne Wotherspoon. In the cast of "The Proposal" are Mary Kay Menze, Nancy Lunsford, Dennis Giles and Daryl Taylor.

Tryouts were held and casts were chosen by members of Delta Omicron.

Student director for the production is Jana Doxon. Mary Sutton is musical director.

Other chairmen are: Marleen McGuire, costumes; Lynn Dyba, publicity; Diane Mahoney and Mary Sutton, props; and Nellie Sudavicius and Linda Moore, posters and settings.

This is the second annual musical program to be sponsored by Delta Omicron. Last year the group presented the melodrama "Down in the Valley."

Greeks Don Costumes For Lambda Chi Mardi Gras

Anything goes — from angels to devils — at the Mardi Gras dance from 9-12 tonight at the Carter Lake Club.

The annual all-Greek affair is a costume dance sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. The fraternity will present an award to the couple wearing the best costumes.

Highlights of the evening will be the crowning of the 1965 Mardi Gras Queen selected by an all-Greek vote.

Vying for the title are Linda Flack, Sigma Kappa; Diane Hudgens, Chi Omega; Mary Rheinfrank, Zeta Tau Alpha and Kathy Welniak, Alpha Xi Delta.

The election will be based on one Greek card per vote. Admission to the dance is one Greek card per couple.

Music will be provided by the Intruders combo. Burney Rammings is in charge of arrangements.

177—Rich Tomasek, Omaha, pinned Steve Converse in 7:19.
Heavy—Tom Maides, Omaha, decisioned Rich Manka, 3-1.

Kansas of the Big Eight was a 29-5 Omaha victim Saturday night in the Fieldhouse as OU took seven out of eight matches. Rick Davis and Tom Bell made impressive debuts with Omaha.

Former Kansas student Davis whipped Jayhawk football star Gary Duff, 5-3, at 167 pounds.

Bell, a 123 pounder, decisioned KU's Bill Brackett, 3-0.

Omaha's only loss was a fluke as Ken Netwig was pinned while trying to reverse and advantage at 147.

Coyotes Blanked

The Indians made South Dakota a 34-0 victim Tuesday night at OU. It was the second shutout for the visitors, who lost to Nebraska, 35-0 Saturday at Lincoln.

Tom Bell, Gerry Shook, Jim Fuxa and Ken Netwig started off the first four matches with pins. Fuxa's pinning of SDU's Hugh Townsend in 19 seconds was the fastest of the season.

Reggie Williams scored a lopsided, 170, win over Bill Haafke at 157 while Rick Davis had to settle for a forfeit at 167 as South Dakota's entrant couldn't make it.

Results
123 pounds—Tom Bell pinned Don Huddleston in 2:27.
130—Gerald Shook pinned Dan Walsh in 5:50.
137—Jim Fuxa pinned Hugh Townsend in 19.
147—Ken Netwig pinned Bruce Cornin in 5:47.
157—Reggie Williams defeated Bill Haafke, 17-0.
167—Rick Davis won by forfeit, then drew with Bill Harrold in an exhibition, 4-4.
177—Rich Tomasek defeated John Bushfield, 6-0.
Heavyweight—Tom Maides defeated Dave Baade, 10-6.

After the game the party will continue at John Zeltin's house with dancing and refreshments. The Chi Omega Knight will be announced here.

Fort Hays, Rockhurst To Invade Omaha Floor

Omaha University's basketballers, struggling to keep their heads above water, tackle Fort Hays tomorrow night at the OU Fieldhouse. Tipoff time is 8 p.m.

The Indians return to the friendly confines of the home court Monday night for a return match with 1964 NAIA champ Rockhurst.

Hays dropped Omaha, 93-62, at Hays earlier this year. OU and the Tigers are tied for third in the CIC with 3-3 marks. Washburn is holding down second, with a 4-3 mark, so an Omaha win could put the Indians back into title contention.

Hawks Weaker

Rockhurst is not the same ball club as the one that trimmed Omaha, 84-75, at Kansas City in December. The Hawks have been taking their lumps since then, and a repeat trip to the NAIA Tourney looks doubtful.

Omaha is 8-12 with a four game losing streak going. Wins over Hays, Rockhurst and Emporia on February 25th would give Coach Jim Borscheim's charges an 11-12 log. OU was 12-11 in 1964.

Washburn Nips OU

Washburn's Ichabods gained revenge for an earlier, 75-48, pasting at Omaha by nipping OU, 83-75 at Topeka Saturday night.

Bulldogs Prevail

Superior height and firepower paved the way Monday night as Northeast Missouri beat Omaha for the third straight year, 76-63.

Omaha shot at a 56 percent clip the first half only to find themselves on the short end of a 45-36 score. Things got no better the second half as the shorter OU squad could find no answer to 6-11 Floyd McMillon's rebounding and Wayne Clinton's hot shooting.

Clinton paced all scorers with 27 points, while McMillon had 16. Larry Villnow led Omaha with 23 points and another stellar but wasted performance.

Emporia Joins Field For Tonight's Indoor Opener
America's Top Miler Camien Heads Impressive List Of Track Heroes

Emporia State joins Omaha, Wayne State and Nebraska Wesleyan tonight at the OU Fieldhouse in the first qual-rangular track meet in years at OU.

Emporia was added to tonight's field when the original triangular with South Dakota and the Hornets was cancelled last Friday by the snowstorm in Omaha.

Field events for the season's first indoor meet will begin at 7:00. Running events will get going at 7:45, says OU coach Lloyd Cardwell.

OU Eager

Indian performers are eager after last week's cancellation. Distance ace Ken Gould has cleared his eligibility and should be ready to go for OU. Sprinters Dennis Ondilla and Max Kurz, hurdlers Clyde Ketelsen and Ed Neel, and middle distance men Ray Hultman and Herb Rhodes will lead the Indian contingent.

Joining Gould in the longer races will be vets Loren Drum and Pat Giddings.

Emporia will bring classy miler John Camien (4:01.7 this year) and his brother Bob, plus a host of great Hurdle and Pole Vault stars. The Hornets also have a 9.5 sprinter in the fold, according to reports.

Two meets upcoming

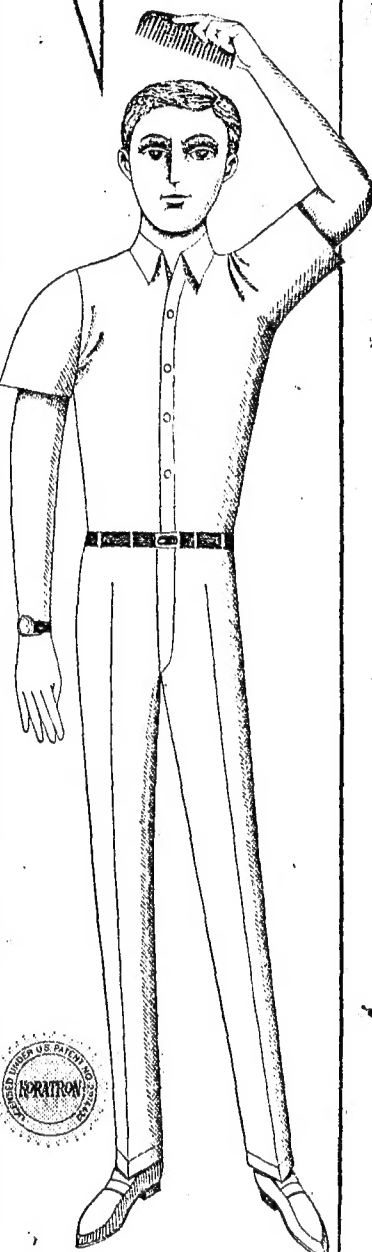

The meet will kick off a big indoor week at the OU track. Yankton and Peru visit the OU plant Tuesday night. Wrestlers will tackle Wayne at six, so field events will be moved up to 7:30.

Graceland and Doane will provide the opposition next Friday night at the Fieldhouse. Field events and running times return to normal for that one.

Admission is one dollar for adults and fifty cents for high schoolers. OU students may gain admission with activity cards.

Are you still wearing those creasy kid slacks?

Get into some wised-up Post-Grads that know where a crease should always be and where it should never be, and how to keep things that way. The reason is the Koratron fabric of 65% Dacron*/35% cotton. No matter how many times you wash and wear these trimly tapered Post-Grad slacks, they'll stay completely neat and make the iron obsolete. In tan, clay, black, navy or loden, $6.98 in poplin or gabardine, $7.98 in oxford. At swinging stores.
